1. Nature of the Sultanate & the Ruling Class

- Historian Ziauddin Barani, Delhi Sultans ke under India ke state ko truly Islamic nahi maante the — kyunki janta ka bahumat (majority population) Islam follow nahi karta tha. [Q1]
- Sultanate age ke zyadatar rulers (Amirs) aur Sultans Turkish class se belong karte the — Sultan central authority ka chief hota tha, aur powerful designations par appoint hone wale logo ko 'Amir' kaha jaata tha. [Q2]
- Medieval period (Delhi Sultanate, baad mein Mughals) ki government ek composite structure thi — purely foreign nahi thi, balki Perso-Arabic, Turko-Mongol (Central Asian) aur indigenous Indian elements (jaise continuing village administration) ka fusion thi. [Q14]

2. Central Administrative Departments — The Diwans

- Balban (1266-1286 AD), Delhi Sultanate ki administration ke mukhya architects mein se ek — unhone Military department ko Diwan-i-Wizarat (Finance Department) se alag karke ek naya department 'Diwan-i-Arz' (Military Department) banaya. Ye department 'Ariz-i-Mumalik' ke under thi, aur Defence/Military ke liye responsible thi. [Q6, Q12]
- Departments-Founders ka sahi match: Diwan-i-Mushtakharaj (Arrears/Revenue) → Alauddin Khalji; Diwan-i-Amir-i-Kohi (Agriculture) → Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq; Diwan-i-Khairat (Charity) → Firuz Shah Tughluq. Lekin 'Diwan-i-Riyasat' (Market Control Department) Alauddin Khalji ne banayi thi, Balban ne NAHI — ye galat pair hai. [Q7]
- 'Diwan-i-Bandagan' (Slaves ka department) Firuz Shah Tughluq ne banaya tha — unhe slaves rakhne ka bahut shauk tha, isliye ye pairing sahi hai. [Q8]
- Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq ne Agriculture develop karne ke liye 'Diwan-i-Amir-Kohi' department banayi — iska main maksad farmers ko direct financial aid (Taqavi/Sondhar loans) dena tha, taaki zyada barren land cultivation ke under aaye aur crop production improve ho. [Q9, Q10]
- Departments ka match: Diwan-i-Arz → Military department; Diwan-i-Risalat → Religious issues, appeals aur foreign matters; Diwan-i-Insha → Royal/State correspondence; Diwan-i-Wizarat → Wazir ke under, financial matters (revenue-expenditure). [Q11]
- 'Wizarat' institution Islamic constitution se recognized thi, jo originally Abbasid Caliphs ke Persian administration se inspired thi — Wazir (finance department Diwan-i-Wizarat ke head) state ka prime minister hota tha. Tughluq era ko Indian Muslim Wizarat ka 'heyday/golden period' maana jaata hai, jab Wazir ki power apne zenith par pahunchi. [Q13]

3. The Iqta System

- Statement check: Delhi Sultanate ki revenue administration mein Pargana/Kasba ka in-charge 'Amil' tha, jo revenue collect karta tha (sahi statement). Iqta ek indigenous institution NAHI thi — Turks ise Islamic world se India laaye the (galat statement). 'Mir Bakshi' (military department ka head) office Mughal Administration mein aaya, Khalji Sultans ke time NAHI (galat statement). [Q3]
- Iqta system India mein Iltutmish ne introduce ki thi — is system mein Iqta ke malik (Iqtadar/Muqti) ko apne area mein revenue-tax collect karne ki responsibility di jaati thi. Iqta se hone wala revenue directly Sultan ke account mein deposit NAHI hota tha — Muqti ise apne administrative aur military expenses ke liye use karta tha. 'Siyasatnama' (Nizam-ul-Mulk likhit) Iqta system ke baare mein ek primary source hai. [Q4]
- Iltutmish ne 'Iqta' system ko institutionally sabse pehle Delhi Sultanate mein introduce kiya — is system mein military commanders aur nobles ko regular cash wage ki jagah zameen di jaati thi, jisse hone wala revenue wo apni aur apni troops ki maintenance ke liye use karte the. [Q16]

4. Provincial & Rural Administration

- Medieval India (khaaskar Mughal times) mein administrative units ka ascending order (chhota se bada) tha: Pargana → Sarkar → Suba. Poora empire 'Suba' (provinces) mein bata tha, jinke head 'Subedar' hote the. Har Suba 'Sarkar' (districts) mein bata tha, jinke head 'Faujdar' the. Har Sarkar aage 'Pargana'/'Mahal' (sub-districts) mein bata tha, jinke head 'Shiqdar' the. [Q5]
- Delhi Sultanate ke dauran, 'Muqaddam' ya 'Chaudhari' Village Headman (gaon ke mukhiya) ke liye use hone wali traditional title thi — wo village mein sabse top local authority the jo revenue collection mein state ki madad karte the. [Q17, Q18]
- Sultanate period mein, land revenue ke 'Supreme Rural Officials' Chaudhary (aur Muqaddams) the — wo village-level par land revenue collection ke liye responsible the, traditional rural social structure mein important role play karte the. [Q19]

5. Land Revenue & Taxes

- Land product par lagne wali taxes: Kharaj (non-Muslims par lagne wala land tax), Ushr (Muslims par lagne wala land tax), aur Muktai (land se related revenue settlement). Lekin 'Khums' land tax NAHI tha — ye war ki loot (booty) ya gadi hui treasure par lagne wala tax tha. [Q15]
- Firuz Tughluq ne taxation Quranic rules ke hisaab se decide ki, 21 non-Islamic taxes khatam kar di — unhone religious scholars ki sifarish par ek irrigation tax 'Haqq-e-Sharb' (ya 'Sharb') lagayi, jo crop yield ka 10% (1/10) hota tha. [Q20]
- 'Fawazil' Sultanate period mein wo excess/surplus amount tha jo Iqtadars (provincial governors) apne administrative-military expenses meet karne ke baad, central exchequer (Sultan ke treasury) ko wapass dene ke liye required the. [Q24]

6. Laws & the Religious Framework

- Sultanate period ki administrative terminology mein 'Zawabits' secular (ya secularly-oriented) State laws/regulations ko refer karte the, jo Sultan dwara banaye jaate the — ye Islamic religious law se alag the. [Q21]
- 'Hadis' (Hadith) Islamic Law ke primary sources mein se ek hai — ye Prophet Muhammad aur unke companions ke sayings, customs aur doings ke biographic reports ka collection hai, jo Islamic jurisprudence ko guide karta hai. [Q22]

7. Officials & Terminology

- Delhi Sultanate administration mein 'Khareetadar' wo official hota tha jo royal decrees (firmans) dispatch karne aur official correspondence maintain karne ke liye responsible tha. [Q23]

8. The Currency System

- Sultanate period ki 2 main currencies 'Jital' aur 'Tanka' thi — Iltutmish pehle Turkish ruler the jinhone India mein pure Arabian coinage system shuru ki, silver 'Tanka' aur copper 'Jital' introduce karke. 'Dam' aur 'Rupiya' baad mein Sher Shah Suri (Afghan rule) ke time introduce hui, aur Mughal era mein widely use hui. [Q25]
- Silver 'Tanka' coin Iltutmish ne introduce ki thi — wo North India mein ye silver coin laane ke liye responsible the. [Q26, Q27]
- Sultanate period ke coins — Tanka (silver), aur Jital (copper) — Iltutmish ne pehli baar regular currency ki tarah issue kiye. 'Shashgani' ek aur coin thi (silver se bani, baad mein Firuz Shah Tughluq ne introduce ki). [Q28]
- Last Abbasid Caliph of Baghdad (Al-Musta'sim, 1242-1258 AD, jinhe Mongols ne maar dala) ka naam pehli baar Delhi Sultan Alauddin Masud Shah (1242-1246 AD) ke coins par appear hua — isse pehle wale Caliph Al-Mustansir ka naam Iltutmish ke coins par likha hua tha. [Q29]
