1. The Indian Councils Act, 1909 — Origins & Communal Representation

- 'Morley-Minto Reforms Bill', 'Indian Councils Act, 1909' ke naam se jaana jaata hai, 1909 mein pass hua tha — 1905 mein Lord Minto ne Lord Curzon ki jagah Viceroy banna, aur John Morley ko Secretary of State for India appoint kiya gaya, unhi ke naam par reforms ka naam pada. Iski wajah se Indians ki administration mein involvement thodi badhi, lekin main dispute Muslims ke liye 'Separate Electorate' par tha. [Q1]
- Indian Councils Act, 1909 (Morley-Minto) ki sabse badi khaami thi 'Communal Representation' ka system — Muslims ke liye 'Separate Electorate' ka concept accept kiya gaya, jisme Muslim members sirf Muslim voters ke dwara elect hote the. [Q2]

2. The Long-Term Impact — Seeds of Partition & 'Father of Pakistan'

- Morley-Minto Reforms mein Muslims ke liye 'Separate Electorate' aur legislative assemblies mein reserved seats ka provision hi National Movement mein 'discord ka beej' saabit hua, jo aage chalkar desh ka partition bana — pehli baar Muslim community ko poori tarah alag section ki tarah recognize kiya gaya, jisse 'Hindu-Muslim Disharmony' shuru hui. Alag Muslim constituencies banayi gayi, aur ye communal representation ka principle Government of India Act 1919 mein aage bhi continue hua. [Q3]
- Rajendra Prasad ne Lord Minto ko 'Father of Pakistan' maana — kyunki 1909 ke Minto-Morley reforms ne India mein communal electorates introduce kiye, jisse partition ke beej bo diye gaye. [Q4]
